

It is difficult to know which city parking spots are available ahead of time, as there is no centralized information source that displays which parking zones are full.